

Appendix III

National Plans

The Planning Unit of the Development Services Department of the World Bank, in the course of its technical assistance activities on development planning, has collected a variety of national development plans. In addition, it has maintained an index of all national development plans which have become known to it through international agencies, publications, correspondence with specialized libraries and communication with national planning organizations. The following is an improved and expanded version of the list of plans originally included in the first two printings of this book. The present list, which was completed by Miss H. J. Goris, contains more than 1,250 titles of long-, medium-, and short-term national plans of nations and dependent territories compared with 730 titles in the original list.

The list contains those plans completed or under preparation which were known to the Planning Unit as of July 1, 1968. Great efforts have been made to ensure its comprehensiveness, but some plans may have been omitted and no assurance can be given as to its completeness.

Acknowledgment

Invaluable information was received from officials in planning agencies and international organizations. A great debt is also due to the libraries mentioned in the Source Reference Key, which made available plan documents, catalog listings and bibliographies. Thanks are particularly due to Miss Narinder Keith of the Joint Fund-Bank Library.

The preparation of the present list, undertaken on the initiative and under supervision of Mr. Albert Waterston and started by Dr. A. Koritz, would not have been possible without the help of Mr. J. H. Dennis and Miss A. M. Fiol who ably assisted in the thorough literature research, and Mrs. Frances Helbert, Mrs. C. Labib, Miss Maura Corcoran and last but not least Miss Erlinda Abad who meticulously prepared the typed manuscript.

Guide to Scope and Content

Scope

The list contains (a) national development plans; (b) other documents of a similar nature such as the multiannual financial plans of the Philippines and Puerto Rico, the reconstruction plans and programs prepared as part of the European Recovery Programme, the annual anticyclical plans of the Netherlands and a plan issued by the Central Bank of Peru but never acknowledged by the government as a national plan; (c) laws and official statements concerning the plans of centrally planned economies, since the plan documents are rarely published.

Only plans covering two or more sectors are listed. Those plans which refer to more than one country, other than plans of a federation, are excluded. Plans covering only one region or geographic area of a country are excluded, but plans relating to the overseas territories of a sovereign state are listed. For those plans published or issued in both the language of the country and in English, each document is listed separately.

Order of Listing

Countries and dependent territories are listed alphabetically and plans are listed chronologically.

Titles

An entry in italics represents the title as given in the plan document; if additional information, not found on the title page, is shown, it is given within brackets, e.g., the translation of the title into English, the period covered by the plan, or the place and date of publication. The letters "n.p." indicate that the place of publication was not given, and the letters "n.d." indicate the absence of a date of publication.

Duration of Plans

The period of the plan is shown whenever possible. Where the period of the plan appears in terms of a non-Gregorian calendar, the corresponding Gregorian period is also given.

Source Reference Key

The reference source of entries listed is indicated by the inclusion of two or more capital letters at the end of the description of the plan. These letters stand for the names of libraries, bibliographies, reports and institutions from which information was obtained for the preparation of the list, e.g., JL—Joint Library of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development/International Monetary Fund. The source reference key is given on pages 589–90. Information obtained from a book, newspaper or magazine is indicated in brackets under the appropriate entry.
